ABSTRACT

Hardware configuration information, such as version number information of each device in a computer, is obtained

5 at a plurality of predetermined timing sets and is stored in a nonvolatile storage medium. Accordingly, it becomes easier to manage the hardware configuration information obtained at the plurality of timing sets in a integrated manner.

10